from ₹1 lakh earlier, which will prevent many MSMEs from being dragged to the NCLT. On Saturday, Sitharaman had said the aim of the IBC was to "keep the companies as going concern rather than liquidating them". Since Covid has hit every industry, it's difficult to find suitors if a large number of companies are put on the block for resolution. Hence, without a temporary suspension of the initiation of insolvency for Covid-related default, many companies would have faced the prospect of liquidation. The minister, however, made it clear that insolvency applications filed for default before March 25 (when a national lockdown was imposed) are being entertained.

Citing RBI data, the finance and corporate affairs minister said in FY19, the recovery under the IBC was as much as 42.5% of the admitted claims, way better than that through other tools, such as Lok Adalat (5.3%), Debt Recovery Tribunals (3.5%) and the SARFAESI Act (14.5%). Opposing the Bill, senior Congress leader Adhir Ranjan Chowdhury said: "I took a serious exception to the way one after another Ordinances are being promulgated on the pretext of Covid. What I would suggest the government is that the promulgation of ordinances shouldn't be taken as a rule. It should be considered as an exception." He also cited the inordinate delay in the resolution of several insolvency cases.

Data available with the IBBI show, of the 2,108 ongoing cases as of June 2020, the resolution of as many as 1,094 has been dragging on beyond the mandatory 270 days, primarily due to legal hassles.
